STANDARD SECURITY

Choosing the Right Product

What level of protection do you require?

- Standard For doors that require a standard level of security
 - High For doors that require a high level of security and attack protection
 - Maximum For doors that require a maximum level of security against physical and manipulation attacks
- Yale recommends for complete protection on front/back doors a security door handle is used with the standard and high security cylinders. Security door handles provide additional protection against physical attacks. Maximum security cylinders do not require any additional protection. For more information on security door handles visit the Yale website.
